VIOLENCE RAGES NEAR MILAN AS MILLIONS BALLOT

Two Attempts to Destroy Munitions Dumps Fail; Pair of Guards Jailed

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ROME, Monday, April 19 (AP)—Two unsuccessful attempts to attack munitions dumps during Italy's fateful Sunday election day were reported early today.

The report of a second unsuccessful attempt to blast a government arms supply was received several hours after the polls closed on the Sunday phase of the election, in which Italians thronged to the voting places to make their choice between East and West.

The great outpouring of voters heartened anti-Communist leaders.

An unofficial but reliable source said an attempt was made to blow up an army dump at Pavia, a town in Lombardy south of Milan in Italy's heavily populated "Red North."

THE SOURCE SAID the attack was thwarted when two sentries were arrested after a small boat had been seen maneuvering on the Ticino river close to the dump.

In the only other major incident of violence yesterday, 60 young soldiers guarding an ammunition dump at San Rocco El Porto near Milan were reported to have engaged in a two-hour gun fight with a group of unknown attackers who were driven off. There were no casualties.

The heavy Sunday vote belied the fears of some supporters of the Vatican-backed Christian Democratic party that the day's showers might keep their followers at home, while Communists, under orders, flocked to the polls. These fears appeared groundless. In some precincts up to 90 percent of the voters cast ballots within a few hours. A total of 21 hours, ending Monday was allotted for the election of a parliament.

BOLOGNA REPORTED that some precincts turned in a 90 percent vote. Others showed 70 percent. Election officials in Milan estimated (Continued on Page Five)

Insurance Company Rules Out Borough For Housing Project

A major insurance firm told a delegation of Pottstown officials recently that the company, which is now able under State law to invest in building, is not interested in constructing the type of housing project feasible in Pottstown, it was learned last night.

The borough delegation, headed by Burgess William A. Griffith, went to the Philadelphia home offices of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company. After obtaining an interview with the company's vice president in charge of real estate, the Pottstown men learned that the company's insurance company, whose investments must be scrutinized by examiners from 48 states, is unwilling to do any building at the present time because of high costs.

When costs have dropped, the company will be willing to invest only in a large-size project—500 homes or more. The company also would insist on building a commercial center, to raise revenue enabling the homes to be rented at a figure that would guarantee takers.

Sites the company has in mind are relatively unsettled suburbs of Philadelphia, not those close by a major shopping center such as Pottstown has.

But the vice president added, several other insurance firms have been considering projects in sections similar to Pottstown. The delegation asked for the names and will make inquiries.

Presidential Supporters to Make Bids For Delegates at County GOP Rally

Teeing off into the uncharted course leading to the Pennsylvania primary election on April 27, Republican candidates and party workers will hold a public rally in Norristown City Hall Thursday night.

Starting at 6 p. m. with a buffet supper, it will include an hour's entertainment, and at 8 p. m. the serious business will start with a talk by the featured speaker, Representative Clarence J. Brown (R-O.), chairman of the Taft-for-President committee in Ohio.

The rally is expected to be a lively one, since the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia is unopposed, and present at the meeting, in addition to Taft's Brown, will be Jay Cooke, Pennsylvania Republican supporter and chairman of the Pennsylvania State committee for Stassen for President.

To date, there has been no indication of which way the county politics would swing, and although announced supporters of only Taft and Stassen will be present, observers believe that support of other presidential hopefuls, including Dewey and MacArthur, may pop up in the county seat Thursday night.

THIS COUNTY-WIDE rally is expected to attract virtually all the 382 Republican committee men and women, in addition to officials and candidates.

Frederick C. Peters, Montgomery county commissioner; Nancy P. Highley, State committee woman; Representative Samuel K. McConnell Jr., candidate for Congress, and Charlie R. Barber, State Secretary of Welfare who is seeking nomination to the office of State Treasurer, will be on the roster of those present Thursday night. Barber served eight years as mayor of Erie before becoming Welfare head.

State Senator Weldon E. Heyburn, of Delaware county, a candidate for the post of Auditor General, and State Representatives Henry J. Probert, of Berks; Howard F. Boorse, of Lancaster; and Raymond C. Kraz, of Ft. Washington, all of the Third (Pottstown) district, are scheduled to attend the rally.

IN ADDITION to Peters and Miss Highley, who are delegates to the Philadelphia convention, numerous other delegates are expected to turn up Thursday night.

They include Joseph N. Pew Jr., of Warwick farm, Chester county, whose family long has espoused the Republican cause in the Commonwealth and nation, and Cooke. Alternates include Russell E. Crawford and Louis A. Hirsch. The program and the line-up of political stars were arranged by Russell Knipe, Montgomery county personnel director, for county Chairman Lloyd H. Wood.

S. Paul Seeders Patient In Jefferson Hospital

S. Paul "Tosh" Seeders, of 1003 North Charlotte street, well-known Pottstown clubman and beverage distributor, was "resting comfortably" late last night in Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, after he was rushed there in serious condition yesterday afternoon.

The cause of his sudden illness, believed at first to be a heart condition, has not been fully diagnosed as yet, hospital authorities said.

It's a Big Moment in Their Religious Lives

Fruit Trees Nipped by Cold; Some Damage Is Reported

An untimely cold snap sent temperatures tumbling below the freezing point early yesterday morning, slightly damaging apple and peach orchards in the Boyertown area and nipping tender local foliage in the bud.

Although 31 degrees was the lowest point recorded in Pottstown, temperatures as low as 27 degrees struck the outlying areas, and Boyertown fruit growers said that their orchards had suffered some damage.

Sheldon W. Funk, the Boyertown area's largest grower, said that there seemed to be slight damage to apples, but that previous injury as early as the past January, during an unusually cold spell, was more severe.

Milton W. Keim, of Boyertown RD 2, said there may have been some damage as the result of yesterday morning's cold, but he had not observed any extensive harm to the fruit trees.

Keim warned, however, that although indications point to a normal crop this year, killing frost can hit the area as late as May.

RICHARD FRECON, also of Boyertown RD 2, said of yesterday's 27-degree cold, "If the apples had been in full bloom there wouldn't have been any left."

Frecon observed that damage to apples apparently occurred only in low-lying spots in the Boyertown area.

None of the Boyertown growers resorted to smudge pots or any other devices to ward off the frost.

Both apple and peach trees are now in bud, growers said, with peach blossoms scheduled to burst make her $250 quota.

Cancer Fund Drive Listed for Borough In Canvass Tonight

The drive for funds to help fight cancer, the second biggest killer in the United States, starts and ends in Pottstown tonight.

Members of eight women's organizations will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Senior High school auditorium to be briefed and equipped before conducting the one-night house-to-house campaign throughout Pottstown.

The meeting will be addressed by David Stith, associate director of the American Cancer society drive in Philadelphia, who is handling the local movement. A short film, "The Traitor Within," will be shown.

Mrs. Harry L. Christman, president of the Century club, one of the contributing groups, last night said the drive will be similar to the Memorial hospital solicitation of several months ago. The workers expect to complete collections in three hours.

EACH CLUB WILL be assigned a sector of Pottstown, probably to be broken down into wards. The goal is $6000 and Stith expects 200 volunteers to be on hand. So far a total of 79 from five of the organizations have definitely committed themselves.

Meanwhile the Rev. A. Burtis Hallock Jr., chairman of the campaign for Lower Upper and West Pottgrove, said his three captains have reported good progress with one, Mrs. Ralph DeWees, in charge of Lower Pottgrove, declaring she would make her $250 quota.

The total goal, to be achieved by the end of the month, is $850.

The organizations to be represented tonight at the meeting will be the Women's club of Pottstown, Senior and Junior auxiliaries of the Pottstown hospital, Century club Women's club of Christ Episcopal church, the auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, auxiliary of Father Bally Council 1192, Knights of Columbus, and the Jewish Women's League.

Committee Plans Bond Drive Here

Charles L. Schulz and Samuel H. Keiser, co-chairmen of a newly-formed committee to enlist Pottstown's support in America's Security Loan drive will meet today to map their campaign.

The time and place of the meeting were not decided last night. The current drive is the first time since the war's end that the public has been asked to buy savings bonds voluntarily. Payroll deduction plans will be available in places of employment, and banks have initiated a bond-a-month plan, to make regular investments in government bonds easier for their depositors.

BOY ON BICYCLE UNHURT IN FALL FROM TRESTLE

Youth on Mercy Errand Topples Into River 50 Feet Below, Swims Ashore

David Camaho, 14, of Warwick Settlement, South Pottstown, plunged more than 50 feet with his bicycle from a trestle into the Schuylkill river at twilight Saturday. He was unhurt.

As he half swam, half walked out of the muddy, flood-swollen river onto the Pottstown bank, he was met by his father, O'Neal Camaho who was returning through the woods at that moment from work at the Robinson Clay products plant.

The 125-pound, brown-haired David set off on his fateful ride from home to get a prescription for his 4-year-old brother, Joseph, who was home in bed with measles.

In an effort to speed his little brother's recovery, David took a short cut over the private trestle leading from the slag works of E. J. Breneman Inc., to the Pottstown shore.

From the center of the narrow, plank-covered trestle to the river is a drop of 72 feet.

DAVID HAD RIDDEN approximately three-quarters of the way across when the bike wheel caught on a sudden bump. The boy tried to get off the bike, and succeeded—after it had teetered over the edge and began the 55 to 60 foot drop.

Hitting the water—six feet deep at that point—with a terrific splash, David opened his eyes and began to swim for shore. He was sure whether he had hit the culm-choked bottom of the stream or not.

His father heard splashing and muttering as he walked by the spot in the dusk. He looked at the river and saw, close by the bank, something that resembled a boy.

Camaho pulled the boy ashore. The boy pushed his hair out of his eyes, shook some of the dirty water from his clothes, and the father recognized his son.

ONE CLIMAX for the story would have been that David escaped without a scratch. This was untrue. He received a barely noticeable scratch on the left side of his face—from brambles on the bushes by the bank.

While David was given a hot bath and a hot drink and then placed by the stove, his father and uncle, George Haines, Warwick settlement, went to the trestle with a long rope and small anchor and succeeded in fishing the bike out of the river.

The uncle rode the bike home—after pushing it across the trestle. Even the bike's lights worked, despite the dunking.

David was in good shape last night, and his little brother was improving, although his family had forgotten all about the prescription in the excitement.

The only casualties were David's wallet, containing Boy Scout papers and 60 cents, and the prescription paper.

VICTIM IMPROVED SLIGHTLY

Clide Keas, 30, of 643 High street, who was critically injured when hit by a tractor north of Fruitville, Thursday, has "improved slightly."

Memorial hospital authorities reported late last night.

Kleinspehn Is Hired By Wentzel Friends To Probe Evidence

By FRED C. SELBY (Mercury Staff Writer)

Paul Kleinspehn, former chief detective of Berks county and an investigator with 27 years' experience, has been hired to seek new evidence in the scarf slaying of Miriam F. Green.

Gerald C. Wentzel, Kenilworth die-maker, was convicted of the crime by a Montgomery county jury. He is now in the Montgomery county jail on sentence of 10 to 20 years at hard labor for second degree murder. But his attorneys plan to appeal to the Pennsylvania Supreme court for a new trial.

Friends of Wentzel, so convinced that the Kenilworth man is innocent of the crime of murder, have employed Detective Kleinspehn to make a private probe into the background of the case. The identity of the Wentzel benefactors was not made known.

A former Pottsonian who is famous for his thorough and tireless investigations, Kleinspehn announced his entry into the Green case with the statement: "I have accepted the job because a number of Wentzel's friends have been convinced by him that he is innocent. They have raised the funds to hire a private detective."

BEFORE HE ACCEPTED their request, Kleinspehn said, he made it clear to them that if any evidence he uncovers should point at Wentzel, it would be turned over promptly to District Attorney E. Arnold Forrest's office.

"If my work should damage the position of the defendant," Kleinspehn said, "that's his hard luck."

The quiet-mannered detective went on to say he is not beginning the probe with any preconceived notions about the Kenilworth man's innocence or guilt.

"What I'm looking for," he emphasized, "is evidence—evidence that may point either way."

IN HIS CAREER as a private detective and as detective for Berks county, Kleinspehn has introduced evidence into 2000 criminal cases. The side which was supported by Kleinspehn's evidence won 1998.

The gray-haired investigator, who now has his office in Reading after working many years in Boyertown and Pottstown, explained he was revealing his entry into the case because he is known by so many people in the area that it would be impossible to keep his activity a secret for long.

And, he added, the sooner his (Continued on Page Five)

Pottstown Man Hurt As Auto Hits Tree

Paul Ezoff, 45, of 345 1/2 Chestnut street, sustained cuts of the forehead Saturday night when his automobile skidded out of control around a curve and struck a tree in Lobachville, Berks county.

Ezoff was treated by a Lobachville physician, and then an ambulance of the Good Will Fire company took him to Memorial hospital. There he was held overnight for observation, for hospital authorities believed he might have had a fractured skull.

Ezoff, who was alone in his car at the time of the accident, shortly after 7 p. m., said "it all happened so quick I don't know just what did happen."

His damaged car was apparently beyond repair.

Business Mixed With Fun as Boys 'Guide' Borough Affairs for a Day

Mock trials, a real criminal case hearing and tinkering with a fire engine were all part of Saturday's fun for junior borough officials as Boys' Week reached its finale.

The day started with cancellation of a parade, because neither Pottstown Junior or Senior High school bands were available. Band leaders told officials of the Optimist club, which sponsored the activities, that many band members could not get off the day.

Burgess William A. Griffith, borough assessor, turned out a borough one-day Burgess, and the 42 other elected officers and appointees at 9:30 a. m. in the day's first official act.

The young officials took over immediately and treated themselves to two personally conducted mock trials. They also played the audiotape of an "unhatched" case, having the hearing as the case of Dean Smith, 26, of 362 Chestnut street, who was charged with disorderly conduct and sentenced by Justice of the Peace Charles A. Andre to pay a $100 fine in fines costs and damages.

VERNON H. W. Dessenberger, borough assessor, presided over the mock trial of which all the boys' borough officials were "tried" $1 for non-appearance, and released. Optimal officials' duty were not to be the greenback was required for the trial.

The borough council held a session and received several complaints, among them one on the holes in borough streets. Following lunch at a borough hall and talks by Harry H. Humberger, Optimist president, and C. Roy (Continued on Page Five)

DANIEL S. RATH DIES SUDDENLY

Store Proprietor, 62, Devoted Many Years to Fire and Lodge Circles

One of Pottstown's most ardent sports enthusiasts and active club and fire company members died suddenly yesterday morning.

Daniel S. Rath, 62, of 3 King street, had been busy all week in his little general store at the intersection of King and Manatoway streets, and had eaten his usual breakfast yesterday.

At 10:20 a. m. he spoke to his wife, Mrs. Helen (Brinton) Rath, and walked into the kitchen of his home. At 10:30 he fell upon the kitchen floor, and Dr. Harry K. Marcy Jr., pronounced him dead a few minutes later.

In his associations, Mr. Rath divided his time equally between fraternal organizations and fire companies. Although he had not held office in many of these groups for the past several years, because of the illness of his wife, his interest in them never flagged.

FOR 15 YEARS, until his death yesterday, he served as secretary of the Pottstown Firemen's Relief association. Mr. Rath also was a former treasurer of the Good Will Fire company, and had served as past president of Pottstown Aene 626, Fraternal Order of Eagles, past noble grand of Excelsior Encampment 83, IOOF, and he was a member of the Sanatoga Tribe 213, Improved Order of Red Men, of the West End Fire company and of the State Firemen's association.

When he was younger, Mr. Rath regularly rode on apparatus to fires, and attended every firemen's parade in and around Pottstown for which he could spare the time.

He also was a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran church and of the church's Brotherhood club.

IN HIS YOUTH, spent in Pottstown where he was born, the son of the late Daniel B. and Elizabeth Suckey Rath, Mr. Rath was an ardent baseball and football player. When he broke his nose in the enthusiasm of a youthful football game, he was taken to the hospital.

Bitter Battle Expected in Senate Over Extra Billions for Air Might

Correspondent Ousted by Soviets Says Propaganda Behind Move

BERLIN, April 18 (P)—Robert Magidoff, American correspondent expelled from Russia on spy charges, said today the accusation was "tumped up by the Russians for internal propaganda purposes."

Magidoff and his wife flew here from Moscow. Their baggage and even the linings of their clothes were closely inspected by agents who

ROBERT MAGIDOFF

Magidoff, Russian-born, had been a Moscow correspondent 12 years. He was accused of espionage in a letter over the name of his secretary, Miss Cecilia Nelson, which appeared in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia.

It alleged that Miss Nelson saw documents in Magidoff's office showing he was systematically receiving from the United States, espionage assignments in the U.S.S.R."

MAGIDOFF SAID he was "absolutely convinced Miss Nelson did not write that letter, but that it was written for her."

"I think the ministry of interior and the Soviet press department called her in and told her what to write," he said.

Magidoff asserted Miss Nelson was born of Finnish parents in the United States, and went to Russia with them in the early '30s. She and her father adopted Soviet citizenship years ago, and she is married to a Finn known in Moscow as "the best trumpet player in town," the correspondent said.

In Moscow Magidoff represented National Broadcasting company, McGraw-Hill Publishing company, and the British Exchange Telegraph agency. The Nelson charges sought to incriminate Magidoff because of communications he had received from McGraw-Hill.

Sex Slayer, 13, Held by Police

VALLEJO, Calif., April 18 (P)—A 13-year-old boy accused of the sex slaying of a six-year-old girl slept peacefully in jail here after being denied a comic book or a trip to the movies.

"I'm okay and everything is fine," the boy, Richard Thompson, was quoted by jail attendants as saying when he awoke this morning.

Sheriff John Clausen of Napa county brought the five feet ten inches tall youth here last night because the Solano county branch jail here has a juvenile wing. Napa county has no facilities for children.

District Attorney Daniel York of Napa county, however, does not regard the drowning of little Verna Sue Haskins as a juvenile matter. He has preferred first degree murder charges against the 160-pound boy and has announced he expects to proceed to trial in Superior instead of Juvenile court. The first step will come Monday.

Richard will be arraigned then on the murder charge before Justice William Locarmine in Napa. At the same hour funeral services will be held for the victim.

4-Year Contract Signed For Atom Research Work

BERKELEY, Calif., April 18 (P)—The Atomic Energy commission will sponsor the exploration of the nucleus of the atom for another four years at the University of California.

President Robert C. Sproul today announced the terms of a new contract. This extends the one under which the university's radiation laboratory has co-operated with the national atomic energy program since May 1, 1941.

The new agreement is effective July 1. It was signed for the university by Robert M. Underhill, secretary-treasurer of the regents. A. Tamm, manager of the Atomic Energy commission's Chicago office of directed operations, acted for the commission.

U. S. WANTS HELP TO SOLVE CRISIS IN HOLY LAND

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—A tense Senate dispute over voting extra billions to build up America's fighting air power cut sharply across political party lines today.

Two key Republican Senators—Chauman Bridges (NH) of the appropriations committee and Chairman Gurney (SD) of the armed services committee—are lined up firmly behind President Truman and Defense Secretary Forrestal.

They told a reporter in separate interviews they see no reason to rush Senate approval of funds for 70 combat air groups until an over-all defense program including draft and universal military training is ready.

Mr. Truman and his defense secretary are clinging to their original estimates that a 55-group air force is enough at this time if backed up by draft and UMT.

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the argument are two Democrats—Senators O'Mahoney (Wyo) and Maybank (SC).

O'Mahoney told reporters he will vote for the 70-air group plan. And he also took a dig at the Republicans for insisting on a tax cut. O'Mahoney said they now face a probability of red ink spending to meet armed services costs.

Maybank, a member of the armed services committee, bluntly promised a fight against any delay on the House-approved billions for added air power.

House members rushed approval of more than $3,000,000,000 for the air power the past week by a top-heavy 343 to 3 vote.

Maybank wants the senate to do the same thing.

Gurney has called another closed-door session of the armed services group tomorrow morning in an attempt to reach some agreement on the "balanced defense plan" which Secretary Forrestal wants.

U. S. WANTS HELP TO SOLVE CRISIS IN HOLY LAND

Says It Won't Attempt To End Dispute Alone; Urge All Nations Do Part

NEW YORK, April 18 (P)—The United States will not try to solve the Palestine problem by itself, an American spokesman said today.

He declared that if several countries cannot agree on joint action, there is a possibility no solution can be found to end the Holy Land controversy.

The spokesman told newsmen that the United States will insist in debates during the second special United Nations assembly on Palestine that other countries must bear their part of any Palestine solution.

"WE WILL NOT take the lead alone," the spokesman said. "We have no intention of getting into it frontally by ourselves."

His comments were particularly significant in view of earlier indications that the United States would put before the special assembly a definite plan for a temporary U. N. trusteeship over the Holy Land.

The assembly was convened by the Security Council on the demand of the United States. Several U. N. members have made it clear they are waiting for the U. S. to take the initiative.

Supporters of the U. N. plan to partition Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries were rallying their forces for an assembly fight tomorrow. The issue is whether to approve a recommendation by the 14-member steering committee to send the partition issue to the big political committee without general debate on the assembly floor.

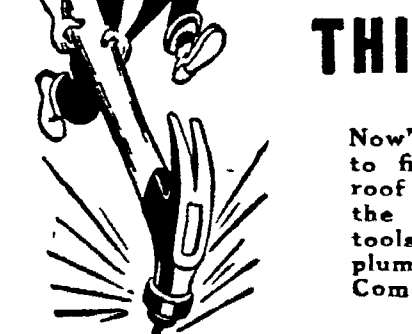

THE BACKERS of partition are asking about the U. S. trusteeship plan which they said they had expected to be before the assembly at this time. They saw there is nothing now for the assembly to do since no formal proposal is before it.

Arab Charges Red Officers Leading Jews in Palestine

CAIRO, Egypt, April 18 (P)—Syria's military liaison officer to the Arab league charged today that 50 Russian commanders are leading Jews against the Arabs in Northern Palestine. He asserted that other Russians are assigned to Jewish fronts elsewhere.

Trans-Jordan Arabs Occupy Jewish Town North of Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, April 18 (P)—British and Arab reports said tonight fighters from Trans-Jordan's Arab legion had occupied the Jewish settlement of Neve Yaakov (New Jacob), five miles north of Jerusalem.

Official Jewish sources in Jerusalem, commenting on the report, said the "Arab propaganda machine has shifted into high gear." These sources said the "Arabs obviously are trying to capitalize on Russian support of partition by siding with the western powers. In fact, some of our own people felt Russia's support was a kiss of death, but we certainly are not being led by Russians."

A similar charge that Russians were leading the Jews was made a week ago by the Arab commander attacking Mishmar Haemek. Reporters later entered the settlement, however, and found the Haganah commander to be a Bulgarian Jew who went to Palestine in 1920.

BIZRI SAID The Russians had reached the Holy Land disguised as civilians in a shipload of visasless immigrants.

Trans-Jordan's foreign minister, Fawzi Mulki Pasha, said here today that the regular forces of his country "will intervene very soon" in Palestine. An Arab league source reported such an action by Trans-Jordan already has taken place on a small scale, but for reasons of international diplomacy cannot be publicly confirmed.

Arab troops under Fawzi Bey Al Kauki, a Syrian, suffered a reverse in the Mishmar Haemek battle the past week. Arab league quarters now claim that Kauki has regained the initiative, due chiefly to Trans-Jordan reinforcements.

Rebel Orders Peace Terms Be Accepted

NEW YORK, April 18 (P)—Rebel leader Jose Figueres today said Costa Rica's civil war would be continued unless his terms for a peace were respected immediately.

Figueres made the statement in a telephone interview from Cartago, Costa Rica, where he has established the capital of what he calls "the Second Republic." Figueres claims to control the entire east coast of the country and to have troops within eight miles of San Jose, the capital.

Fighting has been suspended to permit peace negotiations, which are being conducted with the aid of a diplomatic committee. Figueres said he had sent his emissary, Father Benjamin Nunez, to San Jose for a meeting today but had no word of the outcome.

The rebel leader said an agreement had been reached five days ago for surrender of the San Jose government, but that Communists refused to lay down their arms.

Three Girls Picked For Highest Honors At Norco Exercises

In the battle between the sexes, the female side has won the campaign of North Coventry.

This was made apparent when Paul H. Grim, supervising principal of North Coventry High school, announced yesterday that three girls, by dint of having the highest average over the past three years in their respective departments, will be speakers at commencement in June.

The names of those who led all the rest (by department) are Phyllis Kulp, academic; Phyllis Dersh, commercial; and Nadine Davidheiser, vocational, which in Norco, is the combination of agricultural and home economics departments.

The three seniors are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rudolph Kulp, Pottstown RD 1; Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Dersh, Kenilworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar R. Davidheiser, Pottstown Landing.

Commencement exercises will be held Wednesday, June 2 at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium. Class Day activities will be celebrated May 28 and baccalaureate exercises will be held May 30, the church to be named later.

Firemen Receive Diplomas, Awards For School Study

At a banquet of 200 members of the Montgomery County Fire Police association in Pottstown Saturday night, two members of the Good Will Fire company received diplomas for completion of a six-week fire school, while four other local firemen received certificates of attendance.

The diplomas, awarded for the course conducted weekly in Norristown, went to Donald Davis, a lieutenant in the Pottstown Fire Police association, and to Philip Rosen.

The certificates went to Russell Kreiser, Clinton Miller, Jesse Yergey and Clarence Kohler.

C. E. Zimmerman, Norristown, introduced 14 servicemen guests.

Clarence Bundy, Norristown, director of the fire police school, presented the diplomas, while Miles A. Kelly, chief of the Norristown fire department, commended those who attended.

Banquet chairman was Clinton Miller, assisted by John Hennerson and Howard Zimmerman. The invocation was given by the Rev.

Stolen Sedan Recovered; Two Boys Questioned

An automobile stolen from Joseph Junger, of Boyertown RD 2, the past Tuesday, was recovered by Allentown police Saturday, and two boys were detained by Bucks county police for questioning.

The black, 1936 sedan was taken from the parking lot adjacent to the George Berman truck garage, on West High street, shortly before noon Tuesday.

It was returned to Junger undamaged, after Allentown police found the vehicle abandoned.

The two Bucks county youths also were picked up by Allentown police, and turned over to Bucks county authorities.

God gives every bird his food, but he does not throw it into the nest.—
J. G. Holland.

Where Fire Prevention Should Begin
ANY long range fire prevention program
which will get results must include educational work in the school systems. Traffic safety instruction is part of the curricula of most modern schools. Fire safety is equally important.

The work should begin in the early grammar school grades, and be carried on to the university level. In many instances, it could be profitably and interestingly combined with other instruction. It is susceptible to dramatization. It could be varied from season to season. For the Fourth of July, as an example, the dangers inherent in improper use of fireworks, and the fire carelessness of pic-nickers and campers could be stressed.

The basic attitudes we carry through life
become established at an early age. A child who has been given entertaining, intelligent instruction in fire hazards and their elimination will soon develop ingrained habits of carefulness and attention to dangers. He will grow up equipped to play a continuous part
in the fight against a relentless destroyer.
At this season of the year, special emphasis is being placed on forest fire prevention, and here is a subject which is perfectly suited to our schools. Our forests are one of the nation's greatest legacies to its youth—
and their preservation is a duty to all. And even very young children can understand the simple rules that will prevent 90 percent of all the fires in the forests.

No Lack of Oil
A SURVEY was recently made in 26 states
and the District of Columbia in an attempt to determine just how much the general public knows about the current work of the oil industry in meeting the record demand and
solving problems of supply and distribution.
Generally speaking, the results indicate that the people are pretty well informed. A majority knows that the industry is producing more and more oil. Only 14 percent believe that the spotty fuel shortages have caused real hardship. And a large proportion of fuel oil users have followed suggestions by the industry designed to make stocks of oil go farther.

What everyone should understand is that the oil shortages which have developed are not shortages at all in the real sense. They have been largely caused by the fact that oil supplies are not always immediately available at the point of demand, due to transportation and storage problems. At all times
there has been enough oil above ground to meet the need. Getting it to the fuel tanks of users, however, has occasioned some difficulties.

The thing that would make real trouble
when it comes to oil would be a resumption
of rationing, allocations, price control, etc.
Bureaucratic restrictions always seem to create dislocations and shortages. It is manifestly impossible for a political flat to produce or move a single additional barrel of oil. Everything that human ingenuity can devise is being done now simply as a matter
of good business.

Negroes and the Guard
IN NEW JERSEY Negroes are being taken
into the national guard without segregation,
but in the other 47 states, including Pennsylvania, they are not.

About five out of every six dollars spent
by the Pennsylvania national guard comes from the federal treasury. The state provides the rest. Certain conditions are attached to the receipt of federal monies—and they include what amounts to discrimination against Negroes.

New Jersey guard units can take in Negroes as an exception to war department rules
because a provision in its constitution prohibits that very kind of discrimination. Presumably it is the only state in the union
with such a constitutional provision, although in Pennsylvania we've had a civil rights
statute prohibiting discrimination in public places for years.

Obviously, if the State of Pennsylvania
forbids its citizens to discriminate in public places, then the state should not be asked to countenance a contrary policy in one of its official agencies—its armed forces.

Let's have made much of this national guard segregation. Of course, they are more interested in segregation than in justice, but a conscientious citizen should not allow them such an excuse through which to push their propaganda.

The Truman administration, which has been extending a lot of southern governors
and state legislatures, is also extending discrimination. Many of the equality precepts of the Truman administration are being ignored.

PUNKIN CORNERS.
Editor The Mercury
Dear Sir: I see by the papers where the big leagues open their season this week. In Brooklyn, the Red Cross has issued a booklet on how to treat "Dodger mania." A quick cure
would be an eighth-place
team.

In Cleveland, the Indians may establish a nursery where moms could park their infants while watching the games. This would make the stadium
the world's first baby park.

And say, a new Parisian hair-do is called the "Aparich." It does things, I understand,

Water Policies Backfire
To the Editor: I wonder if Mr. Van Horn and Mr. Saylor's faces are getting
red. If not, they should be. Mr. Van Horn, when a member of council, started the ball rolling for a borough-owned water works and Mr. Saylor "beat the drum"
in the Blade for several years.

They both said it would mean lower taxes due to water company profit. We are not going to get lower taxes and our chief worry now is when they raise the water rent. A step in that direction already has been taken by counting spigots.

We had better let the private company
alone. They would have kept up repairs
had they known they were not selling out.
Pottstown J. M.

Property Owners Ignored
To the Editor: An injustice will be done to the property owners on Route 83
if rumors are true why the entire length of the canal bed will not be used for new highway. On the canal bed, there would be dangerous intersections or other hazards compared to those already on Route 83, between Kenuilworth and a point west of Laurel Locks farm. I don't suppose the Department of Highways thought of the 40 or more driveways on Route 83 as hazards. We all know the canal bed would be 100 percent safer and cheaper to build than the same stretch
on Route 83.

I think the Department of Highways
should inform the public what the
problems they experienced on the canal,
if any, instead of giving them the shocking news that they could expect the new highway to come through their living rooms.

Who will pay for this road? A few families? No, everybody. I have no property on Route 83, nevertheless, I will be burdened with more property and gasoline tax. The canal is the property of the State. Why not use it? Also why not civil rights for every individual?

Still More Prayers Needed
To the Editor: I was much pleased and interested to know that many were interested and took part in the united prayer for peace in one of the Pottstown
churches. I hope that they will have daily prayers for peace in their homes, not one day, but every day. The Word says, "Pray without ceasing."

I suppose and hope that the men at the White House were included, the President and the senators all included,
for they need the prayers to all justly,
not according to their way, if it is selfish.

Keep on praying in the offices, at work, night and day, that the right may prevail and God will do the rest.

One all for peace and not war.
Limerick LOVER OF PEACE

Street Play a Hazard
To the Editor: I would be the last person in the world to deprive youngsters
of their right to have fun. But the practice of a group of boys to play basketball on North Hanover street, just north of East street, should be stopped
before someone is seriously injured by an automobile.

The boys use the street as a basketball court and I've seen them dart in front of moving cars in pursuit of the ball.

This situation seems to emphasize the need for more fully-developed recreational facilities. How many tennis courts have we in town? Most communities of Pottstown's size have at least a dozen public courts. Money spent for this type of recreational facility is an investment
that shouldn't be overlooked.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
IN THE patient with bronchiectasis,
the tubes of the lungs are greatly dilated
or stretched. As a result, secretions accumulate in the lungs and infection follows. The consequences add up to a great deal of unpleasantness for the patient. In the first place, he is subjected to exhausting attacks of coughing, during which he brings up a great deal of foul-smelling sputum. He may have occasional bouts of fever and, usually, in addition,
suffer from weakness and poor general
health.

Many methods of treating this disorder have been suggested. In recent times, penicillin and streptomycin have been used to help overcome the infection,
although they will not, of course, get rid of the dilated bronchi.

In carrying out the treatment, a solution containing salt, calcium chloride, and water is used. This alone is effective in clearing stagnant secretions from the lungs. After several such washings, penicillin or streptomycin can be added to the solution as additional aids in getting rid of any infection which may be present.

In either case, before the solution is used, the back part of the throat and the voice-box are anesthetized by spraying
with the proper anesthetic. After the patient becomes accustomed to the procedure, less and less anesthetic will be needed.

After the anesthesia is complete, the solution is allowed to run into the voice-
box, and the patient is asked to breathe
through his nose. When the doctor believes that the patient is competent to do so, he is permitted to take the treatment at home and returns to the doctor
at intervals for observation.

This treatment has been found of value in all cases of bronchiectasis. Reactions to it are rare. The treatment should not, however, be used in those who have recently had some acute infection of
the nose, throat, or lungs.

WASHINGTON
Wallace Expected to Get
10 Million Demo Votes
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 18 — Some old-fashioned political canvassing has disclosed that Henry A. Wallace may poll
almost 10,000,000 votes as a third presidential candidate and, even more significantly, that 75 percent of those votes
will be cast by persons who might otherwise have supported Harry S. Truman or another Democratic candidate.

This canvass is not to be confused
with the public opinion poll involved in the Roper-Winchell bickering. It's a survey by practical politicians who have rarely been wrong in their estimates of voting trends. It may well affect the GOP's decision at the Philadelphia convention, for it seems to assure the triumph of almost any man they might name.

It may lead some Democratic bosses
still sitting on the fence, especially Boss
Ed Flynn, of The Bronx, to join the parade of leaders trying to persuade Mr.
Truman to find it convenient to drop out of the race in favor of a more likely winner.

PROTEST: The new Wallace estimate
amazes-sideline observers as well as the professional politicians. But a study of the Iowa's appeal and tactics makes them believe that the 10,000,000 figure
may not be far wrong, although more conservative calculators still place it at approximately 8,000,000.

Should the former Cabinet member roll up 10,000,000 ballots, he would amass a larger number than any presidential voter obtained before Warren G. Harding landed the nation in 1920.

It would be the greatest protest
demonstration ever staged against the two major organizations in American history, and it would cause the political and ideological chimes to ring out in the Kremlin.

Moreover, such a show of strength
would have more important and permanent repercussions. It would mean that the leftist organizers of the 1948
campaign would be encouraged to try to transform it into a permanent movement.
They would immediately set to work to capture the Democratic Party for 1952, or at least to force it to accept their principles as the basis of their future
platforms.

FANTASTIC: This latest estimate of Wallace strength, however, does not seem so fantastic in view of the fact that the La Follette-Wheeler slate of insurgents
corralled 4,822,000 votes as far back as the pipingly prosperous year of 1924. It is a comparison of 1924 with 1948 conditions, political, economic and foreign,
which appears to lend credence to the reports seeping into Washington from
the countryside.

Messrs. La Follette and Wheeler
had no money, no organization, no publicity. They were able to get their names on the presidential ballot in only a few states. They had some labor union support, but they had no basic and stirring issues for arousing mass support. They were running on the eve of the richest boom up to that time, with Calvin Coolidge claiming credit for boosting wages, employment and general economic improvement after the 1920-1922 doldrums.

The world's first disarmament agreement had been signed only two years before. There were no foreign scares or alarums. The American people, having fought and won the first world war
in history, did not want to be upset and disturbed by these Cassandras from Wisconsin and Montana. And yet they got 4,822,000 votes from various protest groups.

SPLIT: Mr. Wallace has a far more definite appeal and message than his rebellious predecessors.

Whereas they did not run especially strong in such states as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and California, the Iowa is expected to roll up a tremendous vote in the urban and industrial centers of these electorally important states.

Aside from his attempt to win
racial minorities dissatisfied with Mr.
Truman's foreign program, Palestine
policy and his failure to try to implement his Civil Rights proposals, Mr.
Wallace has apparently split the so-called church-and-school vote that did not get. The White House has been especially disturbed by Mr. Wallace's strength among religious, educational
and social welfare organizations.

Finally, Mr. Wallace will not lack for money, publicity, noise and shrewd rable-rousers, as did the 1924 rebels. In view of all these factors, the 10,000,000
forecast does not strike the politicians as too improbable.

SHADOWS: Harold E. Stassen's primary victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska
have handed the Republicans a problem
almost as thorny as the difficulties which
Mr. Wallace has encountered. President
Truman's doorstep, GOP strategists' principle concern these days is how they can get rid of or win over the seemingly popular young man from Minnesota.

The big bosses still do not want
him on the ticket, despite his defeat
of the two front-runners — Governor
Dewey of New York and Senator Taft of Ohio. They still regard him as a rank and raucous "outsider." But he has campaigned in such a manner
and raised such issues that refusal to place him on the ticket in first or second place may affront millions of
so-called "liberals" and "reformers"
who seem to like his personality and platform.

The Stassen supporters will then be in a position to raise the cry that their man has been "railroaded" by the reactionary "Old Guard" in the party —
the same rebel yell sung by Teddy Roosevelt when the Progressives rebuffed him in favor of William Howard Taft in 1912.

In short, the Minnesota's guerrilla gains in the Midwest have cast long shadows over the forthcoming convention and given many long thoughts to the safe-and-sane bosses of the GOP.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN
HOLLYWOOD, April 18—Typical Hollywood story is what's happened to Cameron Mitchell, recently dropped by Metro after a big publicity "build-up." No sooner did he find himself without a contract, when he got a call to come and test for a big role at (you-guessed it) Metro — where he's just made said test and
been re-signed for "Command Decision" with Clark Gable as his star. Another Mitchell will be turning to the Hollywood fold
for this one, and we mean Thomas Mitchell, who has been in N. Y. for some time. . . . A story that is so "big" were amazed it hasn't broken yet, is about the fifth major radio network, Radio
America, which will start operating in June. The head of the net
is Paul J. Tamm, a former newsper-
son. It's a transcription network and claims to have over a hundred and fifty stations signed, many of them coming over from established outlets. When it has two hundred affiliates a Chicago bank will furnish the major money, (reportedly six million) to put the trimmings
on that national cake.

FRANKIE SINATRA is mourning the loss of his grandfather. . . . The Bob Hope
(his wife, the former Gladys Caldwell) is one of the most beautiful gals in this town) are sticking close to home because their kids are bedded with the mumps. . . . Lots of stars are transcribing "fan talks" for Hollywood Star Records. New additions to the list being Tur-
han Bey, Ella Raines, Yvonne
de Carlo. By the way, Yvonne,
we note is being billed over Tony Martin in "Casbah." We'd
just like to ask one question,
"WHY?" Her contribution is something less than devastating.

SINGER ARTIE WAYNE and Mickey Rooney have teamed to write some songs together. Wayne
is the fellow who once had Rita Hayworth's heart, and on one of his records, "Mule" he also played hedgehog down at Palm Springs
these past few days, with Steve Crane there with Rhonda Fleming—

IT HAPPENED TODAY
On April 19, 1933, the United States went off the gold standard.
This is Patriot's Day, commemorating the Battle of Lexington and Concord in 1775.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Today happy birthday greetings
go to Tom Connally, United States
Senator from Texas, and Getulio
Dornelles Vargas, former president of Brazil.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
1. Crops grown to be plowed under to replenish the supply of organic matter.
2. The small sassafras tree.
3. The poppy.

Face for nothing! Her pan really lights up any corner she's in!

EDWARD ARNOLD, who plays
"Mr. President" on the air, is acting like one these days. He's touring five states for the United Nations Emergency Fund, on behalf of the starving children of Europe and Asia. Cary Grant
for a ten-day respite from that 35
and Betty Hessel (?) a surprise
city tour she's making on behalf of "Emperor's Waltz" and other matters. That gal isn't called "Thegeter."

ASTOR — Frances Faye is writing a book that will be modestly titled "How To Play The Piano Like Frances Faye." The Henry Hillmans (she's Frances Merron of the Mills) will lullaby in July. . . . Henry Bernard, an understudy in "A Streetcar Named Desire," has mumps. The rest of the cast is crossing fingers and holding breath. . . . Manufacturers of military insignia are stepping up production.

TOPS IN TOWN: Louis and Annette Kaufman's new album, "Americana" (Vox Records) . . . The delightful "Mr. Bland-ins Builds the Dream House" at the Astor. . . . Those paper-inspiring charcoal broiled sirloins at Trader Tom's . . .
Vic Damone's Mercury disc of "Love Is So Terrible" . . . The Tony Cabot crew
at the Pierre. . . . The Babe Ruth story
— a must for fans — by Bob Considine and the Babe. . . . The funny train of Stump and Stumpy at the Ebony.

How's Your Mind?

THE ANSWER, QUICK!
1. What are "green manure crops?"
2. What tree in the United States has three different kinds of leaves
on it at the same time?
3. From what sort of plant does opium come?

JOBS UPON A TIME
Radio's young baritone, Gordon
MacRae, had a bad time-convincing
people he was a singer, not an actor.
At a radio station he made an effort to become a singer and became an interloper of a minstrel show. Auditioning for a musical role in the late Christopher Morley's revival of the "Black Crook,"
he was given a speaking part in Morley's "The Trojan Horse." Disgusted Gordon quit the stage and took a job as usher at Radio City Music Hall. Finally, he was allowed to raise his voice in song
as one of a male group, and then became soloist with Horace Heidt.

At 18 the dynamic, glib-tongued Bob Hawk of the airwaves, was offered a job as instructor at Northwestern college at Alva, Okla., his home state. One night, however, while vacationing in Chicago, he heard someone reading poetry over the air. Bob said: "That's for me!"
He became an all-around man,
broadcasting news, grand opera and
sports events.

MODERN MANNERS
Being able to "get along" with the people with whom you are associated in your home, business and society, is proof that you have consideration for others—a sure indication of good manners.

cast of "The Rats Of Norway." He was sooooo temperamental, the man-

bara Evans is in Florida for a divorce
from Sammy Sokol. Her next is a line

Along with all the scotch stolen from El Borracho the other 4 a. m., the thieves got away with a set of gold
steak knives given to Nicky Quattrociocchi by the late King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. . . . Geraldine Brooks, the fast rising young actress, has broken off her recently announced engagement after conferring with studio heads who feel that a marriage at this time would hurt her
box office appeal.

DIANA LYNN's steady beau, multimillionaire Bob Neal of Texas, has joined the ranks of Broadway angels. . . . Peggy Cass, heroine of the touring "Burlesque"
company, will waltz down the aisle with Carl Fisher, George Abbott's nephew, as soon as the divorce papers are sealed. . . .
Bob Hope's Tuesday night show should have been titled "How Risky Can You Get And Still Stay On The Air?" . . .
Pay McKenzie (in Chicago) and Steve Cochrane (in New York) have parted again via long distance phone. Their friends' fears that this time it's permanent confirmed by his interest in film
star Siema Hester.

Five Charges Filed Against Youth, 16, After Auto Collision

When a 16-year-old Cedarville boy's car hit a Pottstown man's sedan yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Route 83 and Parkerford road, it was only the beginning of the youth's troubles.

After Devon State Troopers Maurice Wilhere and Walter Farra looked things over, they filed these charges against the boy:

1. Failing to yield the right of way.
 2. Lacking an owner's card.
 3. Driving a car on which tires displayed fabric prominently.
 4. Driving a car on which the foot brake was out of action.
 5. Driving a car on which the windshield lacked an inspection sticker.
- Police said the youth pulled out of the rural road, past a stop sign, into the rear of the southbound car of Hanley B. Oliver, 974 North Hills boulevard. Damage to the machines totaled $175.
- Oliver's daughter, Dorothy Oliver, 17, sustained a minor contusion of the left forearm, and was treated by her family physician.
- The youth, who will appear in Chester County Juvenile court, denied only the inspection-sticker charge. He reached into the glove compartment and pulled out a scrap of a sticker. Since all dates and figures on the paper were illegible, the troopers did not withdraw the fifth charge.

Glass-Breaking Costs Borough Resident $117

For breaking a plate glass window and a neon sign over the door of the Commercial house restaurant Friday night, Dean Smith, 26, of 362 Chestnut street, was ordered on Saturday to pay $117 in damages and costs.

The hearing was held before Justice of the Peace Charles A. Andre in Borough hall.

Pomery J. Lucci operator of the restaurant testified that a bartender, finding Smith obnoxious, ordered him out. Smith became nasty, Lucci said, and broke a window and the sign as he left. Smith was held overnight in a Borough hall cell.

At first Smith told Andre he'd "take the rap," or in this case 90 days in jail, but later the youth's mother intervened and offered to pay. Fine and costs amounted to $13 for the disorderly charge.

He emphasized that any disclosures made to him would be treated in strictest confidence.

KLEINSPEHN MADE it clear that his acceptance of the job implied no criticism, on his part, of the work done previously in the case by other police or by the Montgomery county district attorney's office.

"I'm no better than any other policeman," he asserted. "My method will be a bit different, that's all."

He declined to say what approach to the case he would pursue. He made public no theories of his own about the strangulation of the divorcee in a Chestnut street apartment house.

But, he said with a smile, his eyes twinkling behind his rimless glasses, "There may be a few loose ends lying around I'd like to have a look at them."

Lawrence M. Moyer Jr., of Douglassville RD. 1, agreed with John Wood, of Christiansburg, Lancaster county, that he sideswiped Wood's car last night at 7:40 o'clock on South Hanover street between Queen and South streets.

Moyer was northbound. Wood was southbound. Each of the cars received a damaged left fender. Patrolman George Wayock and Russell Hummel investigated.

BOYS' WEEK

Bush, president of the real borough council, the officials, including ten girls, inspected Pottstown.

THE EIGHT-CAR motorcade, led by Motor Patrolman Earl J. Rhoads in a prowl car, and also including Burgess Griffith and Borough Manager Dow I. Sears, stopped at the sewage disposal plant, borough water works and the Empire Hook and Ladder Fire company.

At the firehouse, the giant ladder truck was rolled out and the boys were allowed to inspect it at leisure and gun the siren.

At 3 p. m. the youths, weary from the burden of their duties, dispersed and went home. It was the end of the second annual Boys' Week.

Other Optimist members who accompanied the group all or part of the day were D. R. Perkins, vice president, Harry Sowers, secretary; Roland Brock, vice president; Howard Jarvis and Hunsberger.

forth toward the end of this week and apples a little later.

IN POTTSTOWN, many budding plants were ruined by the unseasonable cold and gloomy predictions of a less colorful Spring followed yesterday morning's inspection of frost-nipped plants.

Relief from the cold came yesterday afternoon, as the temperatures rose into the mid-50s, and continued warm weather, with considerable cloudiness, is expected today.

The forecast for tomorrow calls for mostly cloudy skies, rather warm weather and scattered showers in the afternoon.

ITALIAN VOTE

80 percent of the voters cast ballots there.

The interior ministry said three hours before the polls closed in Turin that more than 70 percent of that industrial city's electorate had voted. Latest results from Naples indicated a 75 percent vote and at Salerno, 70 percent. Press dispatches said the vote at Ancona was 75 percent, and at Pescara between 60 and 65 percent.

Communist leaders were silent. In contrast, a statement of confidence came from Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who voted after prayers in Vatican City.

DANIEL RATH

game however, young Rath gave up the more violent indulgence in the game and turned his attention to managing teams and watching faithfully every baseball game he could find the time to attend in this area.

For many years, shortly after the turn of the century, Mr. Rath was manager of the National Athletic club, a baseball team whose members constituted a large proportion of Washington hill baseball players.

Later, he took over the Pottstown football team a semi-professional outfit that attracted members from the entire area.

WHEN HIS WORK as a printer and later as the owner of a small store and his political interests kept him from active participation in the management of these teams, he still followed the teams.

"He hardly ever missed a game," his wife declared.

During his busy life Mr. Rath found time to serve as justice of the peace from the Third ward, for seven years during the late 1920s and early 1930s.

Shortly before his years as squire Mr. Rath had spent one four-year term on borough council, and one of his fondest recollections was how he forced a recalcitrant property owner to pave a sidewalk in front of his place of business.

WHEN THE RATH family moved to the West ward, he was asked again to run for council and for the position of justice of the peace, but although his devotion to the game of politics was constant, he had had enough of active participation and refused to run for office.

For 13 years, Mr. Rath was a printer on the old Pottstown News, and after he left the newspaper, worked at a job printing establishment.

He opened his store at King and Manatany streets nearly 14 years ago after he inherited the business from a cousin.

"WE SOLD MOST everything, from sheetings on up," Mrs. Rath mused as she remembered how crowded the store was when the circus came to town and pitched its tents on the West King street meadows.

Mrs. Rath said that she expects to reopen the establishment after the funeral services, to be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from a funeral home at 139 High street. The Rev. Luther A. Klose, pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran church, will officiate and interment will be in Pottstown East End cemetery.

In addition to Mrs. Rath, Mr. Rath is survived by a sister, Mrs. Harold C. Jones of St. Petersburg, Fla., and one niece.

Patrolman W. H. S. Moyer, Hit by Car, Regains Consciousness in Berks Hospital

William H. S. Moyer, 57, Boyertown special patrolman, who was struck by a car the past Saturday night at 8:40 o'clock while directing traffic at East Philadelphia avenue and Washington streets, regained consciousness in the Reading hospital last night at 6:30 o'clock, hospital attaches reported.

But his condition still was termed serious by members of the family and Chief of Police Henry E. Groff.

Moyer is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull or a severe concussion of the brain as well as shock received when a sedan driven by Earl Schlegel, 40, of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood H. Schlegel, Bechtelsville RD 1, struck the veteran patrolman at what generally is believed to be Boyertown's most dangerous intersection.

Schlegel, who was proceeding east in the direction of Gilbertsville on East Philadelphia avenue, said at the scene of the accident that he was unable to see Moyer. He said he did not know he had hit him until he felt a thud against his car.

MOYER WAS HIT by the automobile's left front fender, smashing the glass headlight. He was carried into Mest's News agency store. Boyertown Community ambulance arrived and took the injured patrolman to the office of Dr. C. B. Dotterer, who advised his removal to the hospital. He was taken to Reading hospital in the ambulance.

Shattered glass and blood marked the scene as a large crowd of curious persons gathered. Chief Groff, who was patrolling on foot on South Reading avenue at the time of the accident, learned of the incident and came to the scene.

Schlegel, a first-year student at Lehigh university, Bethlehem, said he was going 15 miles per hour past the intersection. His rate of speed was corroborated by several witnesses, including John J. McNeely, 27 Apple street.

SCHLEGEL WENT TO town hall where Justice of the Peace J. Robert Chittick, of second precinct, was summoned. Chittick released Schlegel on a $500 bond pending outcome of Moyer's injuries.

Irvin Schlegel, Boyertown RD 2 (no relation to Schlegel, the operator of the vehicle), helped carry Moyer to Mest's store. With his wife, he had been on East Philadelphia avenue in front of the Farmers National bank, when Moyer signalled for pedestrians to cross the street.

The witness, together with Mest, gave statements to Chief Groff at town hall Saturday night.

Broken glass and blood seemed to indicate that Moyer was standing in the pedestrian lane that leads from the Farmers bank to Mest's corner at the time he was struck. After his duty hours were over, Groff immediately went to the Reading hospital late Saturday night to learn further of the special patrolman's injuries.

East Philadelphia avenue and Washington street has been a problem in Boyertown and with increased traffic following lifting of restrictions imposed under war-time regulations, local councilmen sought means of action for more than one year. The past July 7, it was reported to borough council that a spot survey taken by State authorities showed there was insufficient traffic at the corner, both vehicular and pedestrian, to justify installation of a traffic signal there.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS cannot be placed on State highways without the approval of the State highway department and the department refused installation in this case.

Council renewed its discussion of the intersection the past Feb. 2, when Robert C. Stauffer, a former patrolman raised the question of how more effective lighting might be obtained. At the time, the feeling was that installation of some sort of spot-light might aid. Consequently, council ordered Roy E. Schoffstall, borough manager, to investigate the nature of spot-lights available.

At the March meeting, Schoffstall reported that after a check with Metropolitan Edison officials it was learned that the probable best way of solving the problem

Youth With Broken Leg Remains in Hospital

The condition of David Lee Burdett, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Burdett, Morgysville, who broke his left leg between the knee and the hip the past April 6, was reported yesterday as being "fine" by his mother.

Doctors at the Reading hospital, where David is a patient, reported him as very brave. Mrs. Burdett said. It will, however, be necessary for him to remain in the hospital for a total of eight weeks, she said.

The injury occurred when a 100-pound bag of chicken feed fell on his leg as he was playing in the garage, where the feed was stored.

was not to use a spot-light but rather install a section 400-watt street lamp at the intersection. Borough solons decided on this action. The light is on order, it was said, but to date has not been installed.

The effectiveness of a second light was questioned yesterday by a number of persons, since Moyer, at the time of Saturday night's accident, was almost directly under the present street light. Chief Groff said yesterday he feels installation of a good spot-light would prove much more effective in making a patrolman on duty there stand out in bold relief to auto operators.

Complete Check-Up Can Give Your Car Needed New Life

With Spring weather here and warmer days on their way, every car owner should see to it that his automobile is thoroughly checked over by a skilled mechanic.

You'd be surprised what a motor tune-up will do for your car in better performance, quicker getaway, easier riding. And new sparkplugs mean better gasoline mileage. Have them checked and replaced where needed. The carburetor should likewise be adjusted.

Cold Winter weather such as this area experienced the past four months are hard on any piece of machinery. Your car can't "take a beating" forever without need of some attention and naturally it pays to take it to a garage you know about where you can get skilled mechanics with modern equipment and replacement parts if needed.

Don't be one of those car owners who like to "tinker" with his own machine. A car mechanic today must know his business—you just don't pick up that training and knowledge overnight.

Reed Nesley, RD 2, Route 100, south of Pottstown, Phone 3481, conducts a modern garage and is also Massey-Harris sales and service dealer. Tractors, combines, farm implements are for sale, car repair work done, and welding service offered.

Nesley's is your answer to better car and farm implement repair service.

Time Is Here to Clean Cesspools, Septic Tanks

Spring means having that cesspool and septic tank cleaned, more so than ever!

And your easy answer to this problem is to Phone Yellow House 94365 and ask for the services of W. Dotterer, RD 1, Oley, who is an expert at this work.

Mr. Dotterer cleans cesspools, septic tanks and outhouses and has modern equipment to do the task right.

By all means — for your health's sake — observe this sanitary move.

If You Wouldn't Neglect Your Automobile, Then Treat Farm Machinery Same Way

Looking after your farm equipment is just as important, Mr. Farmer, as taking your car to a garage for an overhauling now and then. You wouldn't neglect your automobile and by the same token you should look after that tractor and other equipment that cost you just as much and is difficult to replace to day.

Factory-trained mechanics, precision shop equipment, replacement parts that are correct and attention to details all goes into skilled repair work on farm machinery if your dealer looks after you the way he should.

Now with a big year ahead, farmers should have their tractor and other machinery checked over

Woman's Club Fete Husbands and Friends With Spring Dinner Dance in Country Club

In the soft glow of lighted tapers and at many small tables attractively arranged with small spread bouquets of japonica, daffodils, hyacinths and tiny greens as centerpieces, members of the Woman's Club entertained their husbands and friends at the Reading country club with a dinner dance Saturday night.

Music for the nearly 50 couples who attended was furnished by Robert Hartman and orchestra, Boyertown.

With the many small tables laid for four to seven couples forming a "U," there was a perfect background for the lovely spring colors of the feminine ensembles. Mrs. Elmer Seavers chose a light blue chiffon with very full skirt, the bodice, tightly fitted featured a square neckline with matching large flower.

Looking very charming was Mrs. William Hubertus in a long dinner gown of blue print crepe designed along Grecian lines. Mrs. James Wilke went all out for the "new look" in a pretty black tulle strap gown in the new short length. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls outlining the scalloped neckline.

QUITE CHIC ALSO was Mrs. Morrell Grigg in a brown and pink crepe of unusual block print with long full sleeves. Mrs. Earl Geiger chose a black full skirt with a white crepe bodice attractively set off by an American Beauty and pink chiffon sash. Stunning in black crepe featuring a tiny bolero over a white silk top was Mrs. John DeVincenzo. With the dinner dress she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. John LeVelle looked very pretty in black tulle skirt attached to a dusty pink and blue bodice, while Mrs. Leon Coughlin was daintily attired in black crepe highlighted with multi-plaid trimming. With this she wore a matching rhinestone earring and necklace set.

Also stunning was Mrs. Raymond Quigley in a gown of black tulle featuring off the shoulder bodice and tiny rhinestone necklace. In the back of her up-sweep hairdo was a matching rhinestone pin.

MRS. FORREST ENGEL chose a black crepe of unusual floral design, while Mrs. Ford Sands was attractive in a two piece effect dress of dew-drop gray featuring silver buttons. Mrs. Parker Grow was attired in a black and white floral crepe with which she chose a brilliant red top.

Mrs. James Baird was gowned in black crepe of which the highlight was three king's crowns fashioned of sequins. The dinner dress chosen by Mrs. George Boyer of white crepe designed with tulle top was beautiful in its simplicity. Equally stunning was the ensemble of Mrs. D. Hunter Klink, treasurer of the club, who appeared in a black lace bodice, tightly fitted, with very full and long skirt of moire.

Mrs. Carl Kujawski chose a dark brown dress of simple grecian lines, with which she wore four strands of pearls against the high neckline. Mrs. Kenneth Z. Fillman, secretary of the club and chairman of arrangements for the dinner-dance, was daintily dressed in gay black and white striped effect crepe, with which she chose matching silver necklace and earrings.

The purpose of the tea was to acquaint those girls interested in the nursing profession with some of the facts and surroundings. Following the tea, at which Mrs. Larue Clayton, president of the alumni association, poured, the guests were taken on a tour of the hospital by several of the first year students.

Decorations in the living room consisted of posters advocating nursing as a career while the tea table was centered with a bouquet of Spring flowers.

High school students attended from Pottstown, Pottstown RD, Boyertown, Earlville, Stowe, Bally, Barto, New Berlinville, Spring City and Lansford.

Doe Club Presents Annual Variety Show Before Capacity-Filled House in Elks

With the house filled to capacity — even standing room taken as well as every available seat on windows, lofts and ledges, the variety show of the Doe club played Saturday night as the floor show of the regular Saturday night dance of the Elks' club.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Chaplin and to music coaxed from the keys of the piano by Mr. Frank Kurtz, 11 different acts representing the talent of the Doe club were presented.

Highlights of the hits was the singing of "Giannina Mia" from "The Firefly" and the "Indian Love Call" from "Rose Marie" by Mrs. Bessie Bechtel, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jean Moore. Mrs. Bechtel was called back for an encore, "If I Love You," and despite the demand of the audience for more returned with only curtain calls.

ALSO MAKING a tremendous hit was the presentation of "Civilization" by Shirley Freese and her ensemble, the girls attired in white low gathered neck blouses, skirts of every pastel hue in chapel length, heavy gold jewelry, representing South American maidens. As they sang they danced a modified rumba, following the singing with intricate dance steps.

Dressed in crimson tights and tiny basque bodice featuring off the shoulder ruffled sleeves and with black net over throw skirt, all, alluringly trimmed with huge gold spangles, Mrs. Betty Hood tapped to the center of the floor to sing, "I Yi Yi Yi." Wagging her bonnet, a huge bow of satin at the front, she proceeded to tap the steps of the same song in the South American rhythm.

Interspersing the beauty and peppy snap of the South American numbers was the comedy skit, "Ramble On," given by Mrs. Nora St. Onge, attired in a man's suit of dark brown, Stetson hat, cane, whiskers and a hairnet that should have had an appointment with the barber a few weeks ago.

HIT OF THE COMEDY skits was that of Cyanide and Petunia portrayed by Eleanor Holloway and Marie Montague, respectively. As Cyanide hung her wash upon a line, Petunia came out to gossip with flips covering most of the neighbors of Pottstown.

The show opened with a presentation of "Manana" by Mrs. Shirley Freese and her ensemble, with the entire lot of girls in South American costume including Mrs. Hood, Mrs. Edith Garber, Mrs. Virginia DeSol, Mrs. Marie Montague, Mrs. Florence Whitaker, Mrs. Betty Miller, Mrs. Frances Whitacre and Mrs. Holloway.

The quartet of the ensemble including Mrs. Holloway, Mrs. DeSol, Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Miller gave a vocal selection, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," which was followed by another comedy skit, "But of Nonsense," by Amos and Andy, played by Mrs. Rose Weidenbaugh and Mrs. Agnes Kenney, respectively.

Mrs. Freese donned a pair of black velvet trousers, short red boleros with ruffled sleeves, red South American hat and white shirt to play the part of the south-of-the-border male lead in a rumba dance with Mrs. Hood who wore her costume from the previous song. Again the audience called and called for an encore, but were not rewarded because of the shortage of time.

ATTIRED in black unpressed pleated skirt with white blouse and black bow tie, Mrs. Mabel High was mistress of ceremonies and also favored with two selections of songs that were popular a good many years ago.

As a finale the entire cast assembled to sing and dance, "There Is No Business Like Show Business," after which the show presented a gift to the director, Mrs. Chaplin and the pianist, Mr. Kurtz, with Mrs. High making the presentation.

Mrs. Nellie Koury, president of the Doe club, also gave to Mrs. Chaplin an orchid and check and to Mr. Kurtz a check from the club in appreciation for their work on the show.

Missing from the show was Mrs. Anne Jacobs, who was scheduled to participate in three of the numbers presented. Mrs. Jacobs has been ill with pneumonia for the past week at her home, 649 Summit lane.

This was the third anniversary of shows given by the club and already members were beginning to schedule the outline for the show next year.

150 Couples Dance and Witness Show Given by JWV in Gayly Decorated Armory

Under gay banners of red and white bunting, with the flags of the United States flying intermittently from the ceiling and each of the walls to give a patriotic background, about 150 couples danced last night at the first annual show and dance sponsored by the members of the Leblang-Friedman-Kessler post of the Jewish War Veterans in the Armory.

The dance was dedicated by the commander, Mr. David Kessler, to the men and women of all faiths who served this country in the past World War.

Bringing in from the top entertainment, world the name band of Alex Bartha and his Steel Pier orchestra, which featured Bill Rayon, protégé of Eddie Cantor and former singer at the Roxy, and Mary Holly, formerly a member of Tommy Tucker's band, the audience roared, howled and screamed at the slapstick musical-comedienne tricks of Ken Whitmer and silently thrilled to the contortion novelties of Mary Frances Karll.

RECEIVING THE greatest applause of all was the featured singer, Bill Rayon. Again and again the dancers applauded until he would favor with another number. Larry Best, with his wholesome line of chit-chat and tongue twisters, kept the audience at the edge of their seats waiting for his next words.

Hit of the slapstick comedy was that of the Krazy Auctioneer, who gave away dollar bills as though they were paper cups of water to all who would answer his questions or torture themselves with the antics he wished on them. For the man who could produce the picture of his mother-in-law there were no takers, but one did collect money for the producing of a bobby pin, while others collected for drinking milk from baby bottles, while prizes went to men for the guessing of one twin from another, for the wearing of hats of silly creations, etc.

Also a favorite with the audience was Mary Frances Karll who specializes in front bending and feature acro contortion acts. Dressed in all white satin with fringe trim outlined in rhinestones, Miss Karll exercised marvelous control as she moved from one position to another, going into a bit of ballet routines on the side.

About 25 veterans from Valley Forge General hospital also enjoyed the hilarity as the guests of the post.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS for the affair were in charge of Mr. Robert E. Miller. Refreshments which were served throughout the evening were under the direction of the Ladies auxiliary of the Post.

Senior Vice commander of the post is Lester Rosen; junior vice commander, Gerald Princethal; quarter-master, Herbert Weiss; adjutant, Emanuel Berger; judge advocate, Dr. H. Bauman; Post Surgeon, Dr. D. F. Alexander; chaplain Sidney Weiss and officer of the day, Robert E. Miller.

Assisting Mr. Miller with arrangements for the dance were Mr. Morton Schonberger and Mr. Bernhart Lerner, co-chairmen, and the following committee members: Miss Lillian Raden, Mrs. Bertha Stein, Mrs. Rose Greenberg, Mrs. Yetta Miller, Mrs. Anna Miller, Miss Geraldine Leblang, Mrs. Helen Hirsch, Mrs. Dell Printz, Mrs. Florence Feit and Mrs. Ruth Schonberger.

Also, the Messers. Harold Leiger, Mr. Lester Rosen, Mr. Morris Levin, Aaron Hoffman, Joseph Raden, Arthur Fuerman, Irvin Markowitz, Lawrence Flam, Albert Prince, David Kessler, Gerald Princethal, Ben Levine, Harry Hoffman and Herbert Weiss.

Firemen Extinguish Grass Fire on Way To Official Test

On their way to an official fire underwriters' test in Pine Forge yesterday afternoon, men of the Empire Hook and Ladder Fire company took time out to extinguish a grass fire near Grossstown road, between the cobblebrook branch of the Reading Railroad company line and Manatawny creek.

A booster stream, pumped through 150 feet of hose, put out the blaze quickly.

At the Pine Forge test, which was in charge of Empire chief Richard Moser, more than the required 500 gallons per minute were pumped easily.

THE TEST WAS observed by Underwriter's engineer Russell Wentzell, of Philadelphia, and by members of the West End and Linfield Fire companies.

The Philadelphia Fire company extinguished a blaze in the automobile engine of Merrill Gaugler, of Farmington avenue and Hanover street, at 1:15 p. m. Saturday with the new "dew gas."

A short circuit in the wiring of the car was blamed for the fire.

BIG JOB for Earnings

... meeting your

BIG and GROWING NEED for Oil!

The better you live, the more oil you need.

Today—3 million more cars are on the road than pre-war. 1,500,000 more homes have oil heat. Five times as many diesel locomotives now. Twice as many farm tractors and trucks.

More oil spells more progress.

But—this rising need for oil can be met only by modernizing and expanding on a big scale—and in a hurry in spite of today's high costs.

To do this job, Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and its affiliates are spending one billion dollars in 1947 and 1948 alone—for new wells, plants, tankers, pipelines, storage tanks, and all the other things it takes to get you the oil you need.

That billion dollars is money that goes back into the business from earnings, past and current.

In 1947, for instance, we put 426 million dollars into replacements and expansion. To do this, we:

- (1) used all funds set aside to replace worn-out equipment;
- (2) ploughed back well over half the year's profits—all that was left after paying dividends; and
- (3) dipped heavily into savings put aside in years past to help meet just such needs as we face today.

In the seven years 1940 through 1946, we spent well over one billion dollars for needed equipment, mostly for war needs. Now, in just two years, we are spending another billion dollars. This money comes from the business itself. Money made on the job goes back into the job.

Profits we reinvest for needed production facilities work for everybody. They pay for the capital investment that we must make today to get the oil you need tomorrow.
